3. Service coding manual

3.1. Objectives of Service Coding

Central to the usability and clarity of this catalogue is the system of service codes, which serve as concise identifiers for each service while conveying essential information at a glance. Proper understanding of how these codes are constructed empowers end users to navigate the catalogue and request the right services.

We will delve into the four distinct components that make up every service code, detail the rationale behind each, and illustrate how this systematic approach enables clear communication and efficient service access for all users.

Benefits of using the service coding system:

The four-part service code structure is more than an organizational tool—it's a driver of efficiency and clarity across the entire service management lifecycle. Key advantages include:

- Clarity and Transparency: Codes break down complex service offerings into understandable, digestible elements.
- Streamlined Requests: Users can quickly assess their eligibility and the nature of the service, reducing back-and-forth communication and processing time.
- Enhanced Reporting: Categorization enables better data collection, trend analysis, and performance tracking.
- Improved User Experience: End users spend less time navigating and more time accessing the services they need.
- Scalability: As new services are added to the catalogue, the coding system can expand seamlessly to accommodate new categories, sub-categories, eligibility types, and commercial arrangements.

3.2. The Five-Part Structure of a Service Code

Each KUEC service code is composed of four distinct segments. Collectively, these elements provide a comprehensive snapshot of the service, including its nature, sub-category, eligible users, and commercial type. Below, we break down each part in detail.

Service Category

Definition: This segment identifies whether the service is governmental or non-governmental in nature. The distinction is crucial, as it informs the user about the regulatory context and the broader environment in which the service operates.

- Governmental Services: These are services that are mandated, regulated, or delivered by government entities. They often pertain to compliance, regulation, or public administration.
- Non-Governmental Services: These services, while possibly influenced by government policies, are typically provided through internal departments, private entities, or external partners. They focus on supporting business operations, innovation, and internal efficiency.

Code Representation: The service code's first section will use a letter or abbreviation to distinguish between these two categories. For instance:

- GOV – Governmental
- NGO – Non-Governmental

This classification helps users immediately identify the administrative context of the service.

Service Sub Category

Definition: The second segment further classifies the service by its specific domain or area of application. The available sub-categories differ according to whether the service falls under governmental or non-governmental classification.

For Governmental Services:

Service Category	Description
Establishment and Licensing	Setup, registration, and official licensing of entities
Visa and Insurance	Processing of visas, permits, and insurance requirements as mandated by government authorities
PRO Services	Public Relations Officer (PRO) services involving official government paperwork, documentation, and regulatory submissions

For Non-Governmental Services:

Department/Area	Services/Functions
Marketing and Public Relations	Promotion, advertising, reputation management
Finance	Financial operations , TAX and VAT services
Procurement	RFX management, sourcing & managing suppliers, record keeping and negotiating contracts
Human Resources	Employee management, recruitment, training, personnel services

IT & Technology	Hardware, software, digital transformation, support
Property Management	Administration and maintenance of assets, facilities, real estate
Legal Services	Compliance, contract review, advisory, dispute resolution
General Business Services	General business consulting or mentorship

Code Representation: The service sub-category is represented by a short code or abbreviation reflecting the specific domain. For example:

Full Form	Abbreviation
Establishment and Licensing	EST
Visa and Insurance	VIS
PRO Services	PRO
Marketing and Public Relations	MKT
Finance	FIN
Procurement	PRC
Human Resources	HR
IT & Technology	IT
Property Management	PM
Legal Services	LEG
General services	GEN

Combining the first two segments allows for precise identification, e.g., GOV-EST for a governmental establishment and licensing service.

Customer Eligibility Type

Definition: This segment indicates who is eligible to access or benefit from the service. Clear eligibility designations minimize confusion and ensure that requests are routed appropriately.

User Group	Access/Availability	Description
All End Users	Universally available	The service is universally available to all personas. KUEC internal departments, subsidiaries and startups
Internal Stakeholders	Restricted	Access is restricted to KUEC internal department only.
Subsidiaries and Startups	Tailored services	Services tailored to entities affiliated with KUEC, such as subsidiary companies or newly-formed startups

Code Representation: The third segment employs a short code indicating eligibility:

Description	Abbreviation
All End Users	ALL
Internal Stakeholders	INT
Subsidiaries and Startups	SUB

By scanning this part of the service code, users know immediately whether they can request the service or should seek alternatives.

Service Commercial Type

Definition: The final segment defines the commercial or packaging model of the service, enabling users to understand the pricing or delivery structure at a glance.

Service Type	Description
Flexible	The service can be customized or purchased individually or part of a bundle of services
Bundled	The service must be a part of a package deal or a group of services delivered together and can't be delivered as a standalone service

Code Representation: The service commercial type is indicated with a succinct code:

Description	Abbreviation
Flexible	FLEX
Bundled	BNDL

This makes it straightforward for users to select the commercial arrangement that best suits their requirements.

Service delivery mode

To ensure efficient operations, the KUEC CoE adopts two approaches for service delivery:

delivery route	description
project based services	Services provided for a defined strategic scope within a specified timeframe, tailored to meet unique project requirements.
monthly or annual retainer services	Operational services available on a monthly or yearly subscription basis, which can be purchased individually or bundled with other services for ongoing business support.

Description	Abbreviation
Project based	PRO
Monthly or yearly retainer	RET

Putting It All Together: Service Code Examples

To illustrate how these four segments work together, let's consider a few examples:

Code	Category	Subcategory	Eligible customers	Commercial type	Delivery mode
GOV-VIS-ALL-FLEX - RET	Governmental	Visa and insurance	All end users	Flexible	Retainer
NGO-IT-INT-BNDL - PRO	Non-governmental	IT & technology	Internal stakeholders	Bundled	Project based
GOV-PRO-SUB-FLEX - RET	Governmental	PRO for subsidiaries and startups	Subsidiaries and startups	Flexible	Retainer
NGO-HR-ALL-BNDL-PRO	Non-governmental	Human resources	All end users	Bundled	Project based

Each code tells a complete story about the service it represents, improving accuracy in request submission, internal processing, and reporting.
